

Corporate Conduct, Regulation and the Courts - Where are we and where to from here?

Antonia Watson, Acting CEO of ANZ Bank New Zealand Limited

Antonia Watson is Acting CEO of ANZ New Zealand. Prior to this she held roles as Managing Director of their Retail and Business Banking business and as Chief Financial Officer.

In her most recent role as MD Retail and Business Banking, Antonia was responsible for ANZ's network of retail branches, contact centres and banking specialists who take care of over two million consumer and small business customers.

Antonia joined ANZ from Morgan Stanley, where she was General Manager of their business services and technology centre in Budapest and had various finance roles in Sydney and London. She started her career at KPMG.

Scott McKinnon, Manager, Banking and FMI Supervision, Reserve Bank of New Zealand

Scott McKinnon joined the Reserve Bank of New Zealand in 2012. He is the Manager responsible for the supervision of banks, and payments and settlements systems. He is also responsible for the Bank's enforcement and regulatory compliance function. Prior to joining the Reserve Bank, Scott worked as an in-house lawyer for one of New Zealand's major retail banks. Scott also spent 13 years as an officer in the New Zealand army.

Kate Davenport QC, New Zealand Bar Association President, Bankside Chambers

NZBA President Kate Davenport QC is a civil and commercial litigator (land law, commercial and contractual disputes, trusts, equity and tortious claims). She has a special interest in professional regulation and is a former Vice President of the New Zealand Law Society.

She was admitted in 1983 and worked for several law firms in Auckland before moving to work in England. On her return, she joined the independent Bar in 1990 and took Silk in 2013. Kate was admitted to the UK Bar by the Middle Temple in July 2015 and is an Ordinary (Overseas) Bencher of the Middle Temple. She is also a member of Bankside Chambers in Auckland.

Kate writes extensively on trust law and is a contributing editor to LexisNexis Law of Trusts and the Oxford Journal of Trusts and Trustees.

David Bricklebank, General Counsel and Company Secretary, ANZ Bank New Zealand

David Bricklebank is responsible for legal and corporate governance matters for ANZ and its New Zealand businesses. Before accepting this role, David was Associate General Counsel for ANZ New Zealand since 2012, with responsibilities for Retail, Wealth, Business Banking and the Corporate Centre during that time. Prior to joining ANZ he held senior roles, working as Assistant General Counsel at Telecom and working in financial services in London for 10 years, including working for global funds management company Henderson Global Investors.

Jane Anderson QC, Shortland Chambers, Auckland

Jane Anderson QC graduated with LLB (Hons) from the University of Canterbury in 1991 and with a BCL from Oxford University in 1995. She began her career at Rudd Watts & Stone in Auckland before commencing practise as a barrister sole in 1998. She joined Shortland Chambers in 2002 and took Silk in 2016.

Jane has a broad-based commercial practice and is experienced in litigation of all sizes and at all Court levels. She advises on corporate governance issues and has acted in a range of corporate and regulatory proceedings.

Michael Webb, Barrister, Princes Chambers, Auckland

Michael Webb is a commercial barrister specialising in corporate, financial markets, governmental, and regulatory law.

He acts in New Zealand and internationally on financial market, governance, and regulatory issues, advising and working with law firms, inhouse counsel, boards of directors, corporates, individuals, and governments.

From 2011 to 2016 Michael served two terms as a foundation Board Member of the Financial Markets Authority, and earlier was appointed for three terms as a member of the Securities Commission, and subsequently as Chair of the Ministerial Taskforce on the Regulation of Financial Intermediaries. Michael is also an experienced board member of public and private sector entities, including in the financial services and infrastructure sectors.

Michael is a frequent speaker at conferences in New Zealand and overseas on financial markets, corporate governance, banking and regulation.